Officer/Club Name	Report
VP of Clubs: Delashay Carmona-Benson	Has been asked repeatedly about the parking fee refund. The parking fee covers a lot. The importance of our clubs now: with students not being able to interact as much socially, clubs are important when it comes to mental health during this time. Students need something to brighten up their day. We as leaders need to reach out to students. If you do not have a zoom room, reach out to get assistance with that through your advisor. I have been to a few zoom events, they are actually quite fun. This week we were going to get A.I.D.E. club, but we need to find another advisor on the Petaluma campus. This week on Friday we plan to have 14 leaders total involved. This week we will have a life coach there to help students make the transition to interacting online. Supporting each club is incredibly important. Be aware of zoombombing. Be careful of people you don't know, etc. You can remove participants and put them into the waiting room, etc. Places and No Places. Elections are next week. I also serve on housing, budgeting, hiring, and many more committees. Very active on Mecha, BSU, ASL clubs and many more. Our school and our staff are awesome!!! Every campus, every voice. Delashay is running for President!!!
VP of Student Life: Meea McMath	Reporting on the film festival last Friday. It was great to see how many people attended, thank you to those who attended and promoted it. We had a great turnout: the peak was 200! Made sure we spread it around on social media. The youtube link will be posted on the SRJC Digital Filmmaking page soon. Had a great discussion with the directors. Minimal technical issues. The media servicing department helped out a lot and made it happen. Hopefully we can do it like this in the future. Meea will probably not be the director for the event next year. It was a miracle. This was the 12th annual event, and it was amazing. During Monday's meeting with SGA we were discussing helping out students during this time, we may be having a kind of earned giveaway. I will come back to you later on this for your support on it. Hopefully we'll have it approved next week.
VP of Marketing: Livier De La Torre
Petaluma Queer Student Union: Abigail Harrod	QSU had a queer poetry workshop with July Westhale, which was great! We will be having a speaker series for the rest of the semester and will release more on that soon!
NSLS (National Society of Leadership and Success): Celina Ventanilla	Last week sent out a scheduling poll for the SNTs. There will be Monday Madness. SNT from 10:30-11:30, and then a break, and then a Motivational Monday speaker that everyone is invited to from 1:00-2:00pm-ish. After that, Celina will remain on Zoom for people to come in and do an SNT open workshop, or to hangout, do homework, etc. Nothing for Tues or Weds. 1-2pm on Thurs and Fri will also be open. Lots of members have completed steps online. Celina will email out the links. Celina is running for VP of Health!!!!!!!!!!!!
Baha'i Club: Ken Beck	Having weekly meetings Thursdays at 3:30pm, 707-999-1919 zoom ID. The meeting on the 16th will feature Dwight from The Office! (on a pre-recorded video). Tomorrow will be a regular meeting with devotional readings. One of our members prepares some from different religions and philosophies.
Petaluma Games Club: Jordan Ilog	Kendall and I made a Discord server for the club and have been playing pictionary, Animal Crossing, and Jackbox. We hope to pass the Discord server down. At first it was a more loose set up, but we're trying to make it more structured.

Petaluma Puente Club: Martin Solorio Francisco Hernandez	Not much to report. Some of our students are having problems with online classes, so we're trying to set-up weekly meetings to help them out. Technical issues, etc.
Student Ambassador Club: Gaitlyn Young Tori Hammock	Nothing to report. Celina asked how working remotely has been. Tori responded and said it's going pretty well, but she's missing her coworkers. Tori is running for VP of clubs in Petaluma!
SRJC Digital Filmmaking Club: Carlos	The film festival was a very different experience, but having everyone come together was still very nice, even though it couldn't be in person.
Advisor: Deborah Ziccone	Winners from the film fest: 3 films were awarded but 4 films moved forward. Audienct award: White Lies, Programmers Award: Trail to Nowhere, Judges Award: Milk & Art of Music. A documentary does not often make it in, but Trails to Nowhere did. The program was recorded, we will have a link to share that soon. Dakota and Meea did great! Over 12 years ago, Amanda Swan who was student body president started the film festival. She's from Boise, Idaho. This was before there was even a Film program. We are so fortunate that we have a thriving film program. The Cinema series still prevails, it's been a great opportunity. It's exciting to see the first virtual film festival. At SGA, they voted in support of the administration's decision to not do refunds on student fees. This is not final yet. There's been an extension on student health services during this time. All of the resources are available on the website. SRJC decided to keep all student employees employed through the spring semester. If we have summer classes, parking permits from spring would be extended through summer. There is a lot in motion. The laptop loan program! On Friday laptops were distributed to students who need them. Genevieve gbertone@santarosa.edu is who to contact if you need a laptop. They are very careful with the distribution as far as sanitization and social distancing. Transportation fee pays huge contracts. Anytime students are able to ride during the school year for free on sonoma county, Petaluma, Santa Rosa transit and SMART Train. Voting: We've always done huge campaigns on the Petaluma campus, and Petaluma students are very active in voting in the elections.
